External changes

to a building or part of a building

Internal changes

(to heritage items only)

Talk with us

Some minor works need Council to provide written confirmation (Heritage Exemption Advice) that they would not harm the heritage significance. These commonly include:

Kitchen and bathroom

upgrades and minor internal renovations

Small fences, solar energy systems and painting

Small patios/decks and landscaping

in rear yards

rainwater tanks and swimming pools/spas

in rear yards

Approximately

95%

of requests to Council regarding minor works are approved.

Further details concerning works that do and do not require consent is contained in Part 9: Heritage of the HDCP. For further details concerning how to apply for Heritage Exemption Advice, refer to Council's website: hornsby.nsw.gov.au/property/build/heritage/what-can-i-do-my-property

WHY ARE CERTAIN APPROVALS REQUIRED?

Approvals are required to ensure that what's special and unique about heritage places and heritage conservation areas can be protected.

DO I NEED SPECIAL TRADESPEOPLE?

It is not necessary to employ special tradespeople to carry out standard building work. However, it is recommended that experienced heritage professionals and tradespeople advise on and do any fabric conservation work. This will help protect the property's heritage significance and safeguard its integrity.

ARE HERITAGE WORKS AND RENOVATIONS MORE EXPENSIVE?

The cost of renovating or doing works to a heritage listed place may be more to maintain the heritage specific characteristics. You can shop around and consider contractors with suitable experience with heritage listed buildings.
